Policies for Grading and Participation

Both middle and high students will be graded on the following categories:

1. Concerts/Performances
2. Daily work (completed in class)
3. Participation
4. Other assignments and points-on-completion events (such as promptly returning required forms, etc.)

System for Grading:

1. All students have varying degrees of natural talent, and it is unfair to weight grades too heavily in the area of vocal performance.
2. Choirs require the full participation of each individual to be successful. Most learning is completed during class through direct instruction and practice.
3. Therefore, daily grades are weighted heavily in the areas of participation, work ethic, personal responsibility, and constructive behavior. *Note: Concert participation is considered a required class element.

Daily grades: Each student starts the week with 25 points (225 total for each quarter). Any behavior (talking, disrespect, not participating, incorrect iPad use, cell phone use, etc.) that is not conducive to the learning environment will lead to a subtraction of daily class points.

Concert points: Each concert is worth 200 points total. If a student does not show up to the concert a zero will be given. Participation at a concert is essential, therefore the following aspects of concert etiquette are graded heavily in the concert setting. When a student is:

Talking during concert on stage	40 points possible (20 points deducted per occurrence)
Talking during concert in audience	40 points possible (20 points deducted per occurrence)
Cell phone use	40 points possible (20 points deducted per occurrence)
Attention	40 points (20 points deducted per occurrence)
Each item of incorrect clothing	20 points possible (10 points deducted per occurrence)
Timeliness	20 points possible
